Affiliation: Private, affiliated with Lutheran Church.

Location: Allentown, Pa.; 55 miles north of Philadelphia and 90 miles west of New York.

Academic Emphasis: Liberal arts and preprofessional studies.

Full-Time Enrollment: 2,225; 43% men, 57% women.

Student-Faculty Ratio: 12:1.

Admission: Highly selective.

Over 4,500 applicants for a class of 600. The single most important factor is high school record. Entering freshmen are strong performers academically and give evidence of the potential for positive impact on the college community as extra-curricular contributors as well.

Muhlenberg values the energy and enthusiasm Early Decision candidates bring to the campus.

Personal Interview: Strongly recommended.

Financial Aid: Approximately 70% of students receive some form of financial aid. Both need-based and merit aid are available.

Students: Muhlenberg students are drawn largely from the Middle Atlantic and New England states, although 35 states and over a dozen foreign countries are represented.

Faculty: 170 full-time, 115 part-time. Faculty are drawn from America’s finest universities. Their primary focus is excellence in teaching. 85% hold the Ph.D. or terminal degree.

Library Resources: Trexler Library resources include over 233,000 volumes and 360,000 microforms. An interlibrary loan program makes over 1.75 million books available to students with daily delivery to campus.

Campus Life: More than 100 clubs and student organizations, from United Student Government to Habitat for Humanity, four national fraternities and four national sororities.

Active Learning

Many of Muhlenberg’s classes are taught seminar style, with an emphasis on discussion and classroom interaction. Science labs are hands-on, with the opportunity to do real science in a small college setting. Independent study, mentored research, internships and field experience are encouraged. The goal is to promote an active, participatory learning style.

That commitment to first-rate teaching and active learning means that Muhlenberg strives always to provide learning experiences that are not simply informational, but interesting, even inspirational. It means looking for teaching approaches where students are not passive but rather engaged, active learners. The result has been an academic program widely recognized for educational excellence based on both rigor and nurture.

Positive Outcomes

A Muhlenberg education provides a powerful launching pad into graduate school and entry level careers. The College’s success rates with both law school and medical school placement are regularly over 90%. In addition, many Muhlenberg students go on to master’s and doctoral programs each year, often with teaching fellowships or other stipends.

Muhlenberg grads also go on to a full range of employment opportunities, from America’s largest banks and accounting firms to its “blue chip” business concerns, from the most prominent social and helping agencies to schools, government and family-owned businesses, and from a variety of media, writing and advertising positions to work in the performing and fine arts.

“The small community and small, personal class sizes allow professors [to] ‘become friends, mentors, and role models’ to students. ‘They love what they do, they love students, and they love interacting with students.’ But professors aren’t just friendly faces. ‘They are [also] very knowledgeable in their fields and challenge students to achieve more than they thought they were capable of.’”

President of the College

Peyton Randolph Helm

Peyton Randolph Helm took office as president of Muhlenberg College July 1, 2003. He holds the faculty rank of professor of history.

Immediately prior to joining the Muhlenberg community, Helm served as vice president for college relations and professor of classical studies at Colby College in Waterville, Maine.

Helm began his career in academic administration at the University of Pennsylvania, where he was named coordinator of College House Programs in 1981. He served as associate director of development and then director of development for Penn’s School of Arts and Sciences. From 1981-1988 he was also an adjunct assistant professor of ancient history and urban studies at Penn.

In 1988, Helm was named vice president for development and alumni relations at Colby, where he was promoted to vice president for college relations in 2001.

The Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) has awarded Helm its Steuben Apple, given to advancement professionals who have been rated as a top speaker at 10 or more national conferences. Helm has delivered addresses and conducted seminars on ethics, stewardship, writing, capital campaigns, market research and volunteer management at more than 30 conferences across the country and internationally. His writing has been published in CASE Currents and Successful Fund Raising, as well as various scholarly publications in the field of ancient history.

Helm earned his bachelor’s degree in archaeology, with magna cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa distinction, from Yale University. He earned his doctoral degree in ancient history, specializing in ancient Greek and Near Eastern history and literature, from the University of Pennsylvania.

Karen Green

Karen Green began her duties as vice president for student affairs/dean of students at Muhlenberg College on June 15, 2006, following more than four years as dean of students at Wells College in Aurora, N.Y.

At Muhlenberg, Green oversees more than 70 full-time employees and several departments, including athletics and recreation.

“Muhlenberg is committed to our scholar athletes and the athletic programs are an integral part of a liberal arts education,” said Green. “The lessons learned from participation in our programs will sustain our students throughout their lives. The opportunity to be involved in intramural and recreational programs provides balance from the rigors of a challenging academic experience. Students learn negotiation skills, teamwork, time management and to be effective leaders.

“Our coaches are committed to excellence and are partners with students not withstanding their skill level. My predecessor as dean of students, Rudy Ehrenberg, said it best, ‘We must provide our students with outstanding coaches, superb facilities and a commitment to excellent programs. These are the ingredients for a quality program and Muhlenberg College is committed to such excellence.’ I strongly support these words and will be fully committed to the College’s athletic programs.”

Green received her baccalaureate degree from Agnes Scott College in Atlanta in 1986, where the Karen Green Human Relations Award was created in her honor. She went on to earn her master’s of divinity from the Candler School of Theology at Emory University in 1997.

Green began her administrative career as a resident director at Spelman College, later served in the admissions office at Agnes Scott and subsequently became director of orientation, residence life and student activities at her alma mater before leaving Atlanta to accept the position of director of multicultural affairs at Hamilton College in Clinton, N.Y.

She held additional leadership positions in student life at Agnes Scott, Emory and Hamilton before assuming the position of dean of students at Wells in September 2001.

Director of Athletics

Sam Beidleman

Following a national search, Muhlenberg College named Sam Beidleman director of athletics in July 2003. He had been serving as interim director of athletics since April 1, 2003.

As director of athletics, Beidleman supervises Muhlenberg’s 22-sport varsity intercollegiate program, as well as the intramural and recreation programs.

“Muhlenberg College is proud of its long-standing tradition of academic and athletic excellence,” said Beidleman. “While we strive to win on the field or court, we measure our success in many other ways including the development of character, leadership, scholarship and ethical behavior.”

Beidleman returned to Muhlenberg after a prior 35-year association with the College, during which he held responsibilities in every area of athletics programming -- as a student, coach, faculty member and administrator. He was a varsity letterwinner in football and track and spent 13 seasons as an assistant football coach following his graduation in 1963.

It was as a baseball coach that Beidleman truly made his mark, coaching the Mules from 1970 to 1992 and winning 255 games, setting a school record for a coach in one sport. His teams captured five Middle Atlantic Conference Southwest League titles and three Southern Division championships.

Beidleman, who held the academic rank of associate professor of physical education from 1965 to 1992, also served as men’s intramural director and director of recreation. After retiring from coaching, he was full-time athletic business and facilities manager until August 2000.

A 2006 inductee into the Muhlenberg Athletic Hall of Fame, Beidleman earned his master’s degree in counseling and guidance from Kutztown University in 1970.

Associate Director of Athletics

Corey Goff

Corey Goff was promoted to associate director of athletics in 2008 after five years as an assistant director of athletics. In addition to his administrative duties, he serves as head baseball coach and summer camp coordinator.

Senior Woman Administrator

Megan Eddinger

Megan Eddinger was promoted to senior woman administrator in 2010. In addition to her administrative duties, she serves as advisor to the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee and head field hockey coach.
In its 19th year of all-sports competition, the Centennial Conference has taken its place among the nation’s elite small college conferences. On June 4, 1981, Keith Spalding, then-president of Franklin & Marshall College, made the announcement that “eight private colleges found it timely and appropriate to form a round-robin schedule among institutions with similar attitudes and practices in intercollegiate football.” With that statement, the Centennial Conference was born.

From 1983-92, the eight private colleges — Dickinson College, Franklin & Marshall College, Gettysburg College, Johns Hopkins University, Muhlenberg College, Swarthmore College, Ursinus College and Western Maryland College (now McDaniel College) — participated in a football-only conference. Because of the success in operating the Centennial Football Conference, the league expanded to an all-sports conference in 1992, with Bryn Mawr College, Haverford College and Washington College joining as charter members.

A purpose and mission statement adopted by the presidents stated, “Recognizing that our fundamental purpose is the academic mission of institutions, we agree to establish an all-sports conference in the spirit of rationalizing our competition by controlling travel, schedule and costs. The Conference will be controlled by the presidents of the member institutions.”

The Centennial Conference encourages athletic competition among national liberal arts colleges and universities that share similar academic aspirations and a commitment to the importance of the total educational experience of students engaged in sports. Intercollegiate athletics programs are an integral part of the life of the member institutions and flow from their educational objectives. Each institution provides a comprehensive, broad-based athletics program. All varsity sports are treated equitably, and every sport is important.

The CC crowns champions in 24 sports and continues to sponsor intercollegiate programs of national prominence for women and men. On the average, Centennial members boast of 19 varsity teams, which is well above the national norm.

Men's basketball in the CC is highly competitive and growing in national stature. Three different CC teams have reached the NCAA Tournament “Sweet 16” the last four years, with Ursinus (2008) and Franklin & Marshall (2009) going on to the “Final Four.”

Muhlenberg College sponsors a comprehensive 22-sport intercollegiate athletics program. The Mules compete in the Centennial Conference in all sports and are members of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division III.

Muhlenberg’s sports program is designed to offer quality competitive experiences for the serious athlete, with opportunities for outstanding teams and individuals to advance to national Division III championships. However, given the breadth of the program, opportunities also exist for the unrecruited athlete to participate in varsity sports.

Muhlenberg has excellent on-campus athletic facilities. Opened in 1982, the Life Sports Center is a building designed for athletics, intramurals and “sports for life” as primary uses. The original solar-heated building, a series of additions to the Memorial Hall gymnasium, includes the spacious John Deitrich Field House, featuring basketball and tennis courts and a 160-meter running track; the 25-meter Alumni Pool; and the Levering Tyson wing, containing racquetball and squash courts and rooms for sports medicine, weight training, wrestling, dance, instruction and equipment distribution. Memorial Hall, the original facility built in 1954, seats 3,529 and is an excellent facility for viewing indoor sports.

The Life Sports Center recently underwent a significant renovation that further improved the Mules’ facilities. The three-level, 40,000-square foot addition was built directly west of the Deitrich Field House and opened in the fall of 2004. The new facility includes additional locker rooms and office space, new recreation and fitness areas and a new health and counseling center.

Outdoors, the Mules have a grass field used by the men’s and women’s soccer teams, constructed in 1997, and a stadium for use by football, field hockey and lacrosse surrounded by an eight-lane, all-weather track, constructed in 1998 and resurfaced with AstroTurf GameDay Graze™ 3D in 2008.

During the 2010-11 school year, Muhlenberg won Centennial Conference championships in football, women’s basketball and softball. The men’s soccer and women’s basketball teams reached the “Sweet 16” of the NCAA Tournament, and Mule individuals earned bids to the NCAA Championships in men’s track and field and men’s cross country.
On Saturday, Feb. 6, 1954, the dream of each Muhlenberg alumnus was realized when Memorial Hall, the new physical education building, was dedicated in a brief program.

The program was concluded with the unveiling of a plaque honoring the Muhlenberg alumni who lost their lives in the First and Second World Wars and the Korean engagement. The plaque read: “Memorial Hall; Dedicated to the Memory of These Men Who Made the Supreme Sacrifice in the Service of Our Country.”

Overcoming a halftime deficit of a single marker, the Muhlenberg men's team gained a well-deserved 76-70 win over a hustling Gettysburg squad before a capacity dedication crowd.

In the 50-plus years since, Memorial Hall has been the site of numerous volleyball matches, wrestling meets, concerts and, of course, basketball games. With a built-in seating capacity of 3,529, Memorial Hall fosters a big-game atmosphere hard to match in a Division III facility. Renovations to the facility, including new backboards and an improved lighting system in 2010, and a new paint job in 2011, have kept Memorial Hall modern-looking into its second half-century.

THE SCOTTY WOOD TOURNAMENT

Held annually in Memorial Hall the weekend before Thanksgiving, the Scotty Wood Tournament has grown into one of the most popular events of its kind in the nation. At a time when small-college basketball attendance is spotty and dozens of season-opener “tip-off” tournaments compete for a limited number of available teams, Muhlenberg College's Scotty Wood event is drawing good crowds, meeting financial goals and retaining major sponsors.

The phenomenon has evolved into “Scotty Wood Weekend” at Muhlenberg: a spectacle of ceremonies, receptions and displays of student enthusiasm dribbling around eight women's and men's basketball games over two days.

To generate greater student interest in the tournament, since 1986 the tournament committee has involved the professor and students from a Muhlenberg marketing management class to plan, implement and run publicity campaigns and attendance-drawing events. The marketing students sell t-shirts and other souvenirs, coordinate halftime activities, hold raffles for prizes and organize “Scotty Wood” parties and meals.

Proceeds from the Scotty Wood Tournament have helped fund special trips for the Muhlenberg men’s basketball team (see page 6).
The Muhlenberg men’s basketball team has taken many special trips, both during the season and over the summer, the last 20 years. Proceeds from the Scotty Wood Tournament help pay for these trips and enable the team members to travel cross-country and out of the country for once-in-a-lifetime experiences.

On the international trips, permitted every three years by NCAA regulations, the Mules combine their sightseeing and cultural exchange with several games against club teams.

Below is a list of special basketball team trips made by the Muhlenberg men’s basketball team. Pictures from the trips in bold are arranged clockwise, starting from the upper left.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

The Muhlenberg men’s basketball players recognize their status as role models to the youth in the area and take every opportunity to give back to the community that supports them.

The last two years, the Mules went back to school for a day in January, reading to children at Jefferson Elementary School in conjunction with Martin Luther King, Jr. Day of Service. The Mules talked with the youngsters about the importance of reading and helped them draw pictures of their hopes and dreams.

The Muhlenberg players also interact with area youths in postgame autograph sessions with Boy Scouts.
Scott McClary
Head Coach
Muhlenberg ’94
third season

After 11 years, Scott McClary returned to Muhlenberg College as the school’s new head men’s basketball coach for the 2009-10 season.

McClary replaced Dave Madeira, who retired following the conclusion of the 2008-09 season. Madeira coached at Muhlenberg for 22 years, and for seven of those McClary was one of his assistants. A 1994 graduate of Muhlenberg, McClary spent three years as a student assistant coach and four years as the top assistant, helping lead the Mules to Centennial Conference championships in 1995 and 1998.

“It has always been a dream of mine to return home to my alma mater and help the program reach its full potential,” said McClary. “I cannot imagine a better place to spend the next 20 years of my life raising my family and building a championship program. I am prepared to build a program that will develop great people and field a team the College and the entire community will be proud to have represent Muhlenberg.”

McClary inherited a senior-laden team and led it to a Centennial Conference playoff berth and the program’s first postseason road win in nine years in 2009-10. With a younger team in 2010-11, the Mules finished 13-12 in a campaign highlighted by individual school records for points and blocked shots in a season and the program’s first first-team Academic All-American in 30 years.

McClary came back to Muhlenberg after six years as head coach at Marymount University, where he compiled a 74-83 record, including winning records the last three seasons. In 2009, he was named Capital Athletic Conference coach of the year after leading the Saints to nine wins in their last 13 games and a run to the CAC championship game.

McClary brought his Marymount teams to Muhlenberg to play in the Scotty Wood Tournament twice, winning the championship in 2004 and losing to Muhlenberg in the 2008 title game.

Prior to coaching at Marymount, McClary was the top assistant under Pete Strickland at Coastal Carolina University. Before that, McClary spent three seasons at Bishop O’Connell High School, helping Joe Wootten turn around a program from winning six games to winning 30, including a Virginia state title in his final season.

Perhaps the strongest influence upon McClary as a coach comes from working with Hall of Fame Coach Morgan Wootten of DeMatha High School. Spending the 1998-99 season on DeMatha’s bench as a varsity assistant, McClary helped coach a team that was ranked No. 1 in the nation and featured future NBA players Keith Bogans and Joe Forte. He has also spent the past 20 summers helping Wootten with his renowned summer camp, serving as league commissioner for 13 years.

McClary is the 23rd men’s basketball coach in Muhlenberg history, but just the fourth in almost a half-century. Ken Moyer coached from 1960-61 through 1980-81, when he was replaced by Steve Moore, who led the Mules for six seasons before handing the reins over to Madeira.

The 39-year-old McClary and his wife Nancy have three sons, Caden (9), Riley (5) and Parker (3).

Head Coach: Scott McClary (Muhlenberg ’94)
Assistant Coaches: Ryan Finch (McDaniel ’09), Marqus Hunter (Misericordia ’09)
Student Assistant: Max Saidman ’12
Managers: Jessica Klein, Andrew Schlesinger, Evan Kasakove

Ryan Finch
Assistant Coach
McDaniel ’09 • third season

No stranger to the Centennial Conference, Ryan Finch joined the Muhlenberg staff for the 2009-10 year.

Finch played the previous four seasons at McDaniel College, appearing in 93 games and finishing sixth all-time in three-point percentage and seventh in three-pointers made. He was part of a senior class that recorded more wins over a four-year stretch than any other in McDaniel history, including a school-record 18 in 2008-09.

Finch, whose degree is in sociology, works at the Morgan Wootten Basketball Camp in the summer.

Marqus Hunter
Assistant Coach
Misericordia ’09 • first season

Marqus Hunter is in his first season as an assistant basketball coach at Muhlenberg.

A 2009 graduate of Misericordia University, Hunter was a four-year member of the Cougar basketball team and received the Coaches Achievement Award as a senior.

He went on to earn his master’s in organizational management, with a specialization in human resources, from Misericordia while working as an athletic administration intern.

Hunter, who hails from Paterson, N.J., also has experience as a teacher’s aid in the Dallas, Pa., school district and a human resources intern at Guard Insurance Group in Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

In addition to his coaching duties, he is multicultural program director at Muhlenberg.

Max Saidman
Student Assistant Coach
fourth season

Max Saidman is in his fourth season as a student assistant coach with Muhlenberg.

A native of Kingston, Pa., Saidman was a four-year letterwinner and two-year captain as a point guard at Wyoming Seminary. He has previous coaching experience with a middle-school AAU team the summer before coming to Muhlenberg and worked for The Hoop Group in the last two summers.

Combining a proud past with an exciting present and future, Muhlenberg College has a men’s basketball tradition rare among schools of its kind.

In 104 years of competition dating back to 1900, the Mules have compiled a record of 1,174-1,050-1 (.528). Muhlenberg recently joined the select group of Division III schools that have won 1,100 games.

The men’s basketball program set a school record for all sports by reaching double digits in victories for 21 straight seasons from 1939 through 1959 and tied that mark from 1983 to 2003.

Mules Among the Giants (1940s)

Muhlenberg exploded onto the national basketball scene in the mid-1940s. When the College was selected as a school to be used for the training of Naval officers, dozens of outstanding athletes came to Allentown. Under the guidance of Hall-of-Famer Al “Doggie” Julian, the Mules made two consecutive appearances in the National Invitation Tournament, which at the time was the top postseason college basketball tournament.

After winning 19 of 24 regular-season games in 1943-44, Muhlenberg traveled to New York’s Madison Square Garden to join seven other teams in the NIT. Unfortunately, Muhlenberg’s first-round opponent was DePaul, led by 6-foot-9 All-American George Mikan. According to the Muhlenberg yearbook, Mikan scored 29 points and knocked at least 20 Mule shots out of the basket (in those days before goaltending) to lead DePaul to a 68-45 win. The following season, Muhlenberg battled heavily favored St. John’s in its first-round NIT game, but lost by one point.

In 1945-46, under interim coach Lee Coker, Muhlenberg made a third NIT appearance and finished fourth after defeating Syracuse, 47-41, in the first round. The Mules never appeared in the NIT again, but their success continued. They won four consecutive Middle Atlantic Conference North championships before the end of the decade.

High-Scoring Hijinks (1960s)

Muhlenberg moved to Division III in the early 1960s and returned to national prominence later that decade, winning three straight MAC South championships from 1968 to 1970 and earning a bid to the NCAA College Division Tournament in 1968.

The Mule teams of those years were known for their fast-paced style, averaging more than 84 points per game three years in a row. The 1969 squad set a school record by topping the 100-point mark in three straight games. Three of the six leading scorers in team history played during that span, including all-time leader Bob McClure (left), who scored 1,788 points and was named MAC South player of the year twice.

Sensational in the Centennial (1990s)

The Muhlenberg program was rejuvenated in the early 1980s and has remained strong ever since. The Mules won or tied for the East Division title in each of their first three years in the Centennial Conference. In 1995, Muhlenberg toppled undefeated and top-ranked Franklin & Marshall in the Conference title game to earn a spot in the NCAA Division III Tournament. The Mules won their second CC title in 1998, defeating Johns Hopkins in the final.

Immortals

Muhlenberg’s contribution to the sport of basketball is recognized at the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., where two of its former coaches — Julian and Bennie Borgmann — are enshrined.

Julian left Muhlenberg for Holy Cross and coached the Crusaders to the 1947 NCAA Championship, then spent two years as head coach of the Boston Celtics before returning to the college ranks at Dartmouth. He would later serve as president of the American Association of College Basketball Coaches.

Borgmann played nearly 3,000 professional games for teams such as the Kingston Colonels, Fort Wayne Hoosiers, Chicago Bruins, Original Celtics, Brooklyn Americans and Newark Mules before coming to Muhlenberg. An All-Pro forward wherever he played, Borgmann frequently tallied 10 or more points at a time when most teams would rarely score 30 points in a game.

Mel Kessler needed only three seasons to reach the 1,000-point mark. The basketball suite in Muhlenberg’s fieldhouse is named in his honor.
Muhlenberg won its first Centennial Conference championship in 1995, knocking off undefeated and top-ranked Franklin & Marshall, 88-86, in the title game to cap a perfect 12-0 home record. The conference championship was the first for the men’s basketball program in a quarter-century. The Mules drew F&M again in the first round of the NCAA Tournament and lost, 69-54.

Muhlenberg overcame a 6-9 start to capture its second Centennial Conference title in 1998. An 11-game winning streak, the Mules’ longest in 52 years, culminated with a 55-53 win at Johns Hopkins – where the team hadn’t won in 25 years – in the CC championship game. The run ended with a loss to Scranton in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.
